LORD CURZON'S TERM.

It is to be devoutly wished that whatever impediments there might be in the path of the Home Government reappointing Lord Curzon for another term of years will be easily removed, and that India will be permitted to continue under the Viceroyalty of the statesman who is universally acknowledged to be one of the best and greatest procurers England has ever sent out to this country. It would be too much to say perhaps that Lord Curzon has made absolutely no mistakes, but his mistakes have been fewer and less serious than those recorded against the names of some of the more tried and experienced amongst the statesmen who have governed this vast Empire. It is a remarkable tribute to the worth and the ability of this statesman that in spite of all the differences of opinion existing between him and his critics, on almost every great act of his administration, it should be universally acknowledged that the country was his as yet, and that it would gain more from him than any of those who are in the running for the post. Lord Curzon has, by his courageous statesmanship and intense sympathy for the people of this country, won the esteem and regard of all; and India and England both understand too well what is to be gained from having him at the head of affairs as long as possible. From what a recent cablegram had to say it would appear that the Home Government are willing to extend his term of office, but there are some constitutional difficulties in the way of their giving effect to their wishes. It is believed that his Excellency will not consent to continue at his post without a few months' leave; and under existing arrangements such leave could not be had without vacating office. The Ministers are evidently both to approach Parliament for removing the difficulty, and they are also in dread of the India Council. Let us hope that whatever difficulty that may be standing in the way of India retaining the services of his Excellency for some years more will be removed in time.—Ref. Goff.

THE LASCAR.

There has come the news of a great victory for the lascars. The Board of Trade Committee on Mercantile Marine have unanimously found in favour of the Indian seamen. The case for the lascars was so well put by their accredited spokesman, Mr. Chichur, as well as by India's representative in Parliament, Mr. Bhowaggee, that the Committee's decision was a foregone conclusion. But let us frankly acknowledge that, while we were confident of the result, we never anticipated that the Committee would be unanimous in the matter; for the simple reason that there were on it that redoubtable champion of the British Seaman's Union, Mr. Havelock Wilson, and the representative of the Labour Party in the House of Commons, Mr. Thomas Burt. The presence of two such stalwarts on the Committee naturally forbade us to hope that the claims of the Indian seamen would be unanimously acknowledged, and that justice would be tried to be done to them by those who were sent as the representatives of the white sailor. But those who were sent to curb remained to bless, and with that true British instinct and that sense of British fairness and justice which we have learnt to expect in Englishmen, neither of these valiant champions of British labouring classes has hesitated to sign the report on behalf of the lascar. Considering the fact that so relentless an enemy of the lascar as Mr. Wilson has been made to sign the report, and to go the length of endorsing the Committee's view that they possess seaworthy qualities and that the language test and other restrictions proposed against the foreigners should not apply to them, we are tempted—and with just reason—to ascribe a greater value to the victory than we should have otherwise thought ourselves justified to do.—From the Ref. Goff of Bombay.

ARTIFICIAL vs. NATURAL INDIGO.

Much has been said during the last two or three years about the manufacture of artificial indigo and its effect on the natural product. It has been well known that the perfect one to which the manufacture of the chemical article has been carried in Germany has led to a serious contraction of the trade in natural indigo in several of the great markets of the world, and that still serious developments are threatened. From a recent report of the sale of indigo in the French market, it appears that there was a very perceptible contraction in the trade last year. There was a decline both in the quantity and the prices of the product. According to the London commercial correspondent of the Times indigo is imported into Havre from two countries only, India (chiefly Bengal) and Guatemala. The imports of the Bengal indigo last year only amounted to 1,604 cases against 2,314 cases in 1901 and 3,296 cases in 1900. This continued falling off in the imports is ascribed by Consul-General Wyndham to the competition of artificial indigo, manufactured in Germany. It is said to seriously threaten the very existence of the trade in natural Indian indigo in the Havre market. As things go, what has happened in the Havre market will be repeated before long in the others; for it is impossible that the natural article should be able to make a stand against the artificial product with so many advantages in its favour. The cheapening of the process of production and other favourable conditions may for a time enable the former to compete with the latter, but in the long run artificial indigo is bound to win. The doom of the other might be delayed, but it is certain.—Bahanga.

Intimations.

IT IS DIFFERENT NOW.

Once upon a time students of medicine held the notion that there were as many different diseases as the body has organs and parts; every one of these ailments requiring a different treatment. So stupid a mistake could lead only to miserable failures. For the fact is, the body is a single machine; and what concerns one part of it concerns, more or less closely, all the rest. Thus we see how it happens that one remedy, or mode of treatment, may relieve and cure a variety of complaints,—or what may appear like a variety, but are really various forms or outcroppings of the same cause. Take, for example, Anemia, Scrofula, Poverty of Blood, General Debility, Influenza, Throat and Lung Diseases, etc.—a formidable array indeed they look to be; yet quickly abates the worst of such cases, and absolutely cures many which have been abandoned as hopeless. The reasons are: its power, over the digestive and assimilating process, its action in expelling impurities from the blood, and its consequent ability to vitalize and rebuild the whole structure. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. It was not dreamed out, or discovered by accident; it was studied out, on the solid principles of applied medical science. It is precisely what it is said to be, and has won the confidence of the public on that basis. You may resort to it with a faith and hope that arise from the history of what it has done for others. Dr. Thos. Hunt Sucky says: "The continued use of it in my practice, convinces me that it is the most palatable, least nauseating, and best preparation now on the market. Every dose effective. 'You cannot be disappointed in it.' Sold by chemists here and throughout the world and A. S. Watson & Co., Limited.

THE Foochow Echo understands that they are to have a new line of steamers running between Foochow and Shanghai. The first of the steamers, the Jauch Derickson, is advertised to close on Monday, the 22nd inst., for Shanghai.

WE are given to understand that the Chukong will be replaced on the Macao run by the Pikong, the Wing On S.S. Co. having chartered the former vessel to the Quarter Master's department at Manila for twelve months. She proceeds to the Philippines on the 1st July.

A TWIN-CREW steamer of about 3,000 tons gross register was launched at Bremen on the 12th ult. for the Norddeutscher Lloyd, and named the Prinz Sigismund. She will be employed in the Singapore-New Guinea-Sydney line, for which a sister boat is now also being built at Bremenhaven.

Don't forget the chits for they will not go LeMunyon.—Adv.

By permission of Major Radcliffe and officers, the band of the 33rd Burma Infantry will play the following programme, during dinner, at the King Edward Hotel, to-morrow, Friday, the 26th inst. (weather permitting):—

Overture: "Der Kaiser's Lenz" (Haupt Fild).
Selection: "The Girl from Kay" (Alan Caryl).
Song: "The Song you sang to me" (Molloy).
Selection: "The Lady Slavey" (Crank).

Dance Corinthe: "Punch and Judy" (Baggett).
Grand Save the King.

At the Magistrate, before Mr. J. H. Kemp, 22 natives were charged with gambling at 55, Hok Uo where they were arrested by Sergeant Sullivan, of the Hongkong Police Station, and a party of other police, who entered the premises, and surprised the gang while playing the game of ngan pai. Lodging was supplied to them at the cells of the Station, and this morning they were charged. A fine of $25 with the alternative of one month's imprisonment was imposed on the first prisoner; $50 or two months on the second, and $3 on each of the others.

GENERAL Wood, U.S.A., left Singapore by the Giang Seng (Captain Robinson) for Java on the 18th inst. He is expected to return to Singapore about the 28th inst. and will leave for Manila via Hongkong by the German mail boat which leaves here on July 3rd or 4th. The General is compelled to be in Manila by July 12th, hence his hurried trip through that portion of the East.

THE reclamation works at Kowloon are progressing rapidly both in the vicinity of Blackhead's Point and on the road to Hungshom. At the latter the thoroughfare is being considerably widened at the curve in the road near the barracks and the authorities would confer a blessing on many who have to use the road if the foreshore, which, at low water, reeks of foul mud and sea-weed, was reclaimed so that it would never be left bare by the receding tide.

As a supplement to the new naval base at St. Margaret's Hope, Pacific Magazine urges a canal between the Forth and the Clyde, which would enable ships of war to pass freely from one coast to the other. Such a canal would be only 30 miles in length, and capable of being traversed in from five to six hours. By its means the naval base at St. Margaret's Hope on the East Coast would be in direct water communication with a fleet operating on the West Coast, and also in direct communication with the shipbuilding yards on the Clyde and in the North of Ireland. There would also be no chance of a fleet being hopelessly blockaded at St. Margaret's Hope.

THE botanical observations which have recently been made on Krakatoa and the neighbouring islands, an account of which is given in Nature, are specially interesting. Since the great eruption destroyed every vestige of vegetable life, twenty years ago, we are really witnessing the process of vegetable colonisation from the beginning. The first settlers appear to have been microscopic algae, which eventually created a suitable substratum for ferns, of which about a dozen species had appeared in 1886. Between 1886 and 1897 no fresh ferns appeared, but fifty species of flowering plants managed to establish themselves, among them several orchids. Krakatoa is about twenty miles distant from Java and Sumatra, and it will be interesting to see how much light its new vegetation throws upon the origin of vegetation of much more remote islands, which have more than a littoral or coral-island flora.

ONE would imagine, from the Earl of Crew's question in the House of Lords, that a contemporary, Colombo was living in a state of abject terror during the visit of the Russian Fleet; and from the serious tone of Earl Selborne's reply one may well feel that we have not long emerged from a period of acute danger. As a matter of fact no such feeling of insecurity prevailed, and indeed very little interest was manifested in the visit of the Muscovite leviathans. Nevertheless a significance and importance has been attached to the incident and the admission that the visit of so powerful a fleet to Colombo was exceptional and rose from accidental cause seems to indicate that "it will not occur again"; or if it does the Admiralty will take care Colombo is not left so helplessly at the mercy of the hostile power whichever it may then be, as was the case when the Russian Fleet passed to the Far East. Lord Selborne would evidently prefer to reciprocate the hospitality of foreign Powers to single vessels at a time instead of whole squadrons.

THE London County Council has entered upon a determined campaign against the habit of expectorating in public places, and the authorities in Hongkong might be well advised to follow in their wake. On April 28th there came into force a regulation which will make it an offence against the law for any person to spit in or upon any of the London County Council tramway-cars. This will be the first time a law against spitting has been enforced in London. A fine up to the amount of 40s. is the penalty fixed for the offence. The official view is that the Council has been largely influenced by the danger of infection which arises from spitting, especially in cases of consumption, as well as by the objectionable nature of the habit itself.

"Hitherto," said a prominent official, "we have contented ourselves with printed requests affixed to the cars. Now we are going a step further. If a person persists in spitting, his name and address will be obtained and he will be summoned." But the County Council is thinking of taking further steps against the dangerous habit. The following bye-law is likely to become law before many months pass:—"No person shall spit on the floor, side, or wall of any public carriage or of any public hall, public waiting-room, or place of public entertainment, whether admission thereto be obtained on payment or not." This means that not only will spitting be prohibited by law in the Council tramway-cars, but in all other London tramway-cars and London omnibuses as well. If our authorities could be induced to consider the subject in relation to Hongkong many of the diseases with which we have now to contend might be considerably lessened, if not checked entirely.

ON THE JURY.

BY "NEW CHUM."

"Cart," cried the usher, and some thirty woe-begone looking men in the front seats of the Court house and a crowd of Chinese in the rear got on their feet as his Lordship entered.

The thirty despondent looking individuals in the front of the show are those whom the powers that be have brought together in order to select various juries (therefrom and despite the fact they are about to assist in upholding the majesty of the Law and to make the way of transgressors particularly thorny they certainly do not seem particularly pleased with themselves. They are a decidedly cosmopolitan crowd, being composed of British, Germans, Parsees, Portuguese, Jews and Chinese, and may be some other nationalities which to the ordinary eye convey no distinctive signs as to what their forebears were.

After a couple of cases are disposed of without juries, two Chinese prisoners are hustled in and placed in the dock where they immediately betray a strong desire to crouch on their hams—a desire resented equally strongly by the police who poke them into as near a resemblance to interest and activity as it is possible to raise in a Chinese prisoner. A couple of Indians with fixed bayonets are stationed one on each side of the dock for fear the prisoners may be very desperate characters; but after one has a good look at the prisoners the conclusion is immediately come to that this precaution is unnecessary, but as the red turban makes a nice spot of colour against a blank wall the Indians justify their existence.

The charge having been read and interpreted to the prisoners and they having pleaded "not guilty," seven of the despondent crowd in the front seats are required to decide the matter at issue between "our sovereign Lord the King and the prisoners at the bar."

The thirty now begin to betray some signs of interest in their situation as the Registrar inserts his hand into a box and brings forth a ticket.

He calls out a name and the unlucky wight gets up and walks to the jury box followed by a subdued chuckle from the man who was sitting next to him, a chuckle frozen suddenly as the chuckler hears his own name called next.

A jury of seven having been sworn, some in the name of God, some in the name of Jehovah and some by making a declaration, the remaining front-seaters are informed that their services are not required until the afternoon, on which they rise as one man and go their ways rejoicing. The prosecuting Counsel is now left loose at the two object prisoners and from this point the proceedings became very slow indeed as the necessity for interpretation robbed the Court of any possible excitement, as the most startling evidence loses in being interpreted.

One was strongly reminded of the old story of the Kery witness giving evidence in Gaelic. Witness holds forth volubly for a few minutes and then the interpreter informs the Court that prisoner says "Yes." The only diversion that falls to the lot of the seven unfortunate is in watching the methodical changing of guard on the part of the Indians every half-hour and the countenances of the jury seem to palpably express a hope that one of the rules will be dropped just by way of a break in the monotony. Numerous witnesses are now examined and betray a truly Chinese desire to please the interrogator by giving the answer he most desires. After each witness finishes his evidence the prisoners are asked if they desire to put any question to him or her as the case may be. Not they. Nothing was evidently further from their thought. They do not seem to have sufficient interest in the case even to be bored.

The case drags its weary way until the prosecuting Attorney informs his Lordship that he has completed his case and then the seven unfortunate are assisted in finding their verdict by his Lordship running over the evidence and informing the jury in the good old fashioned way that evidently if the prisoners are guilty, they are guilty; whilst on the other hand if they are not guilty they must be acquitted.

The jury now lay their heads together both figuratively and in point of fact and after sundry whispers the foreman rises and informs the Court that the jury finds the prisoners guilty. The other jurymen mean while making their best attempt to look important and responsible. His Lordship then addresses the prisoners, but as his remarks are interpreted piece by piece his sentencing speech loses much of its weight. "Three years hard" is the sentence of the Court, and the prisoners receive it with the same stoicism that has characterised their conduct throughout the whole proceedings and are removed by the medium of their queues from the Court to meditate on the unfortunate chance by which they were caught and possibly plan some fresh villainy for some future occasion.

The seven jurymen are now informed that their presence can be dispensed with until later on in the day and they forthwith gleefully seize their hats and his forth to the nearest hostelry to slake a considerable thirst engendered in a warm Court room.

The only pleasures to be derived from having your presence requested for jury purposes seem to be in the fact that if it is your first appearance it constitutes a sort of certificate of citizenship and also there is always the sporting point of view of wondering how you stand with regard to the laws of chance when the names are drawn.

It is decidedly fascinating to hear your Christian name called and to wonder whether the succeeding surname is about to be your own. In point of fact you take part in a lottery without the preliminary payment of 12 and should you be an old hand at the game and your name not be called you leave the Court so evidently well pleased with yourself, that the winner of $50,000 is a small man compared to you.

BANKRUPTCY PROCEEDINGS.

ABSENCE DEBTORS AND PUBLIC EXAMINATION.

At the Supreme Court this morning the Chief Justice, Sir W. M. Goodman, sitting in bankruptcy jurisdiction, heard an application by Mr. F. C. Barlow, of Messrs. Deacon and Hastings, on behalf of two creditors, for the adjudication of the estate of Wong Fat Hing. The matter came before the Acting Chief Justice, Sir H. S. Berkeley, on the 23rd April, when it appeared that debtor had gone away from the Colony, and the receiving order was made and Mr. Bruce Shepherd was appointed official receiver in the estate. The liabilities were about $50,000 and assets $15,000. Mr. Bruce Shepherd pointed out that Sir Henry Berkeley had refused to grant two adjudications with most disastrous results as far as the Official Receiver was concerned, one debtor was in Canton and he had sent the other up to bring his partner to Hongkong, and immediately he was in the act of bringing him down the Canton authorities arrested him and it took about three weeks before the man could be released. His Lordship said he wanted to arrive at some satisfactory solution regarding the absence of debtors from public examination and he would certainly not allow a man to be adjudicated bankrupt on his own petition. In the present case, according to the affidavit, there was very little probability of debtor attending his public examination, and if on that ground he declined to make him bankrupt the result would be that, although the property was protected it was not vested in the trustee in such a way that it could be utilised to the benefit of the creditors. After considerable discussion his Lordship adjudged the debtor bankrupt.

INDO-CHINA STEAM NAVIGATION CO., LTD.

The local agents (Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co.) forward us the twenty-first annual report of the board of directors of the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company, Limited, presented to shareholders at the twenty-second ordinary general meeting, held at the London offices of the company on the 4th inst. It is as follows:—

The Board of Directors now submit their report and statement of accounts for the year 1902.

The depressed condition of the shipping trade in the Far East during the year under review will have prepared shareholders for financial results much less satisfactory than the handsome earnings of the two previous years. Notwithstanding serious adverse circumstances, however, it is gratifying that after crediting over £36,000 for the usual premium of insurance to underwriting account, the revenue can still provide, (with the aid of the sum brought forward from 1901) for income tax, interest, charges, and also £59,185 for depreciation on steamers, and yet leave a credit balance.

Owing to these causes a dividend could hardly have been looked for, but the absence of any total loss or of serious damage to the fleet for a long period has allowed of an accumulation of profit on the underwriting account which nearly equals half the paid-up capital of the company, and the directors consider this account has reached such dimensions that they are justified in the interests of the shareholders in transferring £28,655 16s. 9d. to revenue, leaving still the large sum of £240,000 at credit of underwriting account.

This transfer increases revenue account to £30,174 15s. 7d. and it is recommended that a dividend of 5 per cent, free of income tax, be declared, thus absorbing £14,794 10s., and leaving £5,380 5s. 7d. to be carried forward to the next account.

The company's fleet has, during the past year, been further strengthened by the addition of the new steamers Yik Sang, Choy Sang, and Kwong Sang, in replacement of vessels sold at satisfactory prices. Two additional steamers for the coast trade were contracted for during the year and both have now been delivered.

The board have not availed of the proposed increase of capital alluded to at the last annual meeting.

There has been some improvement shown in the freight market this season over the earnings of last year at same time, but it is not possible to forecast from present prospects what results may eventually be realized.

The directors deplore the unexpected death of their late chairman, who had been on the board since the formation of the company, and they have just learned with regret of the death of Mr. W. L. Watson, who had retired from the Board in 1901. The directors have appointed Mr. H. Beazley, a well-known former resident in China, to the Board, and his appointment requires confirmation. Mr. W. Paterson, who retires in rotation, offers himself for re-election.

The auditors, Messrs. Turquand, Youngs & Co. likewise offer themselves for re-election.

By order of the Board,
A. G. WELLS,
Secretary.

"THE FOO SENG" MUST PAY SALVAGE.

At Manila on 21st inst., Judge Sweney handed down a decision in the maritime case of the Manila Transportation and Construction Company against the s.s. Foo Seng. It will be remembered (says the Cebuensis) that the Foo Seng came into port from Hongkong, in April 1902, seeking a purchaser. The vessel remained in the harbour until some time in July when she was endangered by a typhoon and rescued by the launch Madge belonging to the plaintiff company.

The plaintiff asked salvage for saving the Foo Seng and the court found in accordance with the amount of 2,500 pesos which were distributed among the crew of the launch Madge and the crew of the Delta, another vessel which rendered some assistance to the threatened Foo Seng.

Attempted Assassination of the Czar of Russia.

NEW YORK, June 21st.

Nicholas the Second, the Czar of all the Russias, has narrowly escaped assassination again. An attempt on his life has been frustrated. Tsarko Selo was the scene. Through the divine providence which seems to guard him, the young Czar escaped unharmed. The desperate deed was well-planned. Russia is in uproar over the affair and the police are more active than ever. The nihilists are being arrested on all hands, and the result of the attempt on Nicholas' life will be the summary punishment of those who are alleged to have preached sedition and anarchy. Congratulatory telegrams from all the governments of the world are pouring into Tsarko Selo where the Czar now is. Tsarko Selo is only fifteen miles from St. Petersburg, the seat of the Russian Government. It is a favourite resting place of the royal family and contains the noted imperial palace, about which so much has been written. It is the usual summer residence of the court.

Moors meet defeat.

New York, June 21.

A special dispatch from Fez, the capital city of Morocco, to the London Times, says that a bloody battle has been fought between the Amridina (tribesmen) and the Moors. The Moors suffered a crushing defeat, 500 of their number being killed. They fled from the field in confusion, leaving many stands of arms, several pieces of artillery and a large quantity of ammunition which fell into the hands of the victorious tribesmen.

It is announced in Washington, through the War Department, that Judge Henry C. Ide of the Philippine Commission and Mr. Ford, former head of the Internal Revenue Department of Porto Rico, are engaged in drafting an internal revenue act for the Philippine Archipelago.

THE NEW PICKROV.

According to a correspondent who writes from Canton under date 24th instant, the new Viceroy of the two Kwang, H. E. Tsen Chun Hsuen, is fulfilling all the expectations of him as being an official endowed with much uprightness and personal energy. Since his arrival he has shown great activity, and one of his first acts has been to deprive the commander of his bodyguard of two buttons and peacock's feather, for an offence against discipline on the part of one of the soldiers under his command. The latter poor unfortunate was found sleeping while on duty in a night watch and was sentenced to receive eighty strokes with the bamboo.

It is also whispered that an official in the Namoi has been dismissed from office and is held in detention pending further investigations. Along with him are two other native "gents" who are supposed to be implicated in affairs connected with the fantan gambling monopolies. Besides these, other notable officials are also on the black list, and will take their turn in the course of investigations now being pursued. There is no doubt that a colossal task is before the new Viceroy in the cleansing of the Augean stable. His Excellency leaves for Wuchow to-morrow.

STRIKE AT CANTON.

We learn from a correspondent who writes under yesterday's date that the men employed in the tea factories, in the preparation of the leaves for the European markets, have all gone on strike now for about a month. Their demand is for higher wages, and proposals by the proprietors of the factories for a compromise have failed to bring the workmen to terms. They were first paid at the rate of nine and a half cents per head a day, and subsequently obtained an increase to 12 cents. Not content, however, with the rise they demand to cents as the minimum. The employers at first made an offer of fourteen cents, being an advance of two cents, and have since increased it to sixteen cents which

PLAGUE AND BURMA.

It is strange, but nevertheless a fact as everyone knows, that the plague, firmly established in India for several years, although it has spread far and wide to Australia, Africa, Europe, which are thousands of miles away, has not yet seriously made its appearance in Burma, which is at the doors of one of the most infected ports, Calcutta. What can be the reason or cause of such an immunity? A Burman, signing himself Buddhist, gives an exchange in the vernacular newspaper The Friend of Burma his views on the subject and what he thinks the most fitting and practical answer to the above question.

He seems to have well understood all that the Government did in India to try and stamp out the awful calamity; he expatiates on the enormous amount of money spent; on the, in many instances, heroic devotion of Government servants at all, what is astonishing for a Burman, he wonders at the cleverness of Western scientists in discovering the hitherto-thought infallible remedy of inoculation. But notwithstanding all this, the plague spread and is even now spreading all over India. Hence he acknowledges that stringent rules and plague regulations enforced in the port of Rangoon against all vessels coming in from infected areas have to a certain extent done something in keeping the disease at bay. But he has another reason for the immunity from plague enjoyed in Burma up to the present time and has, moreover, found an infallible means of effectually stamping the disease out in India.

Burma is at present the Buddhist country par excellence, and though its Buddhism is mixed up with much that is alien to its spirit, it is the purest and most orthodox to be found now anywhere. And in this is to be found the very reason why the plague has not yet spread in Burma. At least this is the opinion of our Burmese friend, who takes his stand on the great movement of the revival of Buddhism in this country for the past few years. For, says he, the people at large, in towns and in villages, reverse more than ever the three jewels "the Buddha, the Law and the Clergy." The virtues considered greatest in Buddhism, that is charity, purity and Bhavana, or the cultivation of self, are striven after in a quite extraordinary degree, thus accumulating a sum of good Karma that becomes stupendous in its occult power. Moreover, pious societies are springing up daily in every town and village of any importance, which impress upon the mass of the people the spiritual benefits derived from observing the Five Precepts binding upon all men. As in Christian churches the pious Buddhists assemble together and prayers or rather Pali texts called from the Pitakas are devoutly recited in common. Small wonder, then, that the plague could obtain no footing in such a thoroughly pious country as Burma is. Who or what could ever resist the tremendous influence of the all-powerful Karma resulting from such a sincere religious spirit?

And herein lies also, of course, the reason why the plague has taken such a hold on India. Buddhism has been banished from its shores, and Hinduism, in all its impurity and hideousness, has gained again its ancient empire over the minds of the people; the crimes and sins it overlooks are numerous; the bloody sacrifices it enjoins to be performed are revolting to the calm and peaceful soul of the devout Buddhist. The reason of the spread of the disease in India in nowhere else to be looked for; it lies in the irresistible sum of evil Karma which has been accumulating on that unhappy country for centuries past; that Karma is so to say, a national one, and has brought in its wake its retribution in the form of an ineradicable epidemic.

Now, following up the rational sequence of the reasoning "Buddhist" gives us the only means, the sole infallible remedy against the spread of the plague in India and the only way of stamping it out altogether. If Buddhist practices and recitations of Pali texts have been effective in keeping the epidemic from Rangoon, surely they must have the power of stopping its progress in other countries, and its progress being stopped it, of course, will die out. Then comes the practical side of the question. Our friend appeals to the hearts and piety of the wealthy Burmese to form a society for combating the spread of and effectually stamping out the plague not only from India but also from all other countries where it has taken a foothold. The idea is so simple that it is a wonder it has not been thought of long before this. Buddhist takes all the honour to himself. The society would make it its duty to provide abundant funds to meet all the demands its object will naturally entail. Monks of exalted piety and irreproachable life would be selected and sent to all the infected parts, here to go from city to city, and from village to village, reciting on their way appropriate Pali texts and thus creating a favourable Karma which would in course of time counteract and destroy the evil one that has brought the terrible calamity upon India. Besides this humanitarian result, the movement would set on foot another revival of Buddhism in benighted India, destroy the nefarious caste system and thus open a new and brilliant future for the land trodden by the Buddha's holy feet.

THE guard of police usually in attendance at the Supreme Court during the Criminal Sessions received instructions to be present at the Court this morning, and although it was clearly stated by the Puisne Judge that notification would appear in the columns of the Press setting forth the date and hour at which the Sessions would be continued some erroneous impression must have existed in official quarters, as the notification duly appeared, fixing the date of the next sitting for Monday. A couple of jurors waited patiently in the doorway until the four Indian constables and three lunkongs marched back to the Central Station in charge of a European sergeant, when they likewise moved off.

Costs were allowed respondents. Mr. Napier and Mr. Carver represented the appellants and Mr. Van Someren and Mr. Van Cuylenberg the Respondents.

SOUTH African statistics as to the cost of winning gold show that in 1899 it cost 11s. 10. 1d. to produce a sovereign's worth of metal. In 1902 it cost 13s. 8. 2d., and of these total costs labour alone amounted in 1899 to 5s. 10. 9d., and in 1902 to 7s. 4. 3d. There is food for reflection in these figures; but would be perhaps unwise to draw any positive deductions from them unless we are in possession of all the facts in each particular case.

BROKER v. BROKER.

A FORMER HONGKONG BROKER SUES HIS PARTNER.

On the 18th inst., Mr. Napier, representing Mr. Addis, broker, made an application to the Chief Justice for an interim injunction restraining Mr. Judah (defendant) from being connected either directly or indirectly with any exchange, share or general broker in Singapore and from carrying on in Singapore the business of an exchange and share broker either alone or in partnership with others until the trial of action. The defendant was represented by Mr. T. Braddell. The facts were that defendant was engaged with plaintiff under agreement for three and a half years, but that in defiance of a clause of the contract he joined the firm of Nathan and Rahamin on March 21st last. On May 23rd an advertisement appeared in the press to this effect, and on 28th May steps were taken to secure this injunction. The defendant's case was that he was authorised to join the other firm, partly by telephone and partly at an interview, and further that the plaintiff, when he heard of defendant's joining Nathan and Rahamin, wished him success, shook hands, and kissed him after the Jewish fashion. The Chief Justice refused to grant the injunction. From what had been put before him, it seemed that he had to decide which of the memories of the parties concerned he was entitled to believe most. If plaintiff greeted defendant, as stated above, defendant would be justified in believing that Mr. Addis waived any right he might have had under the agreement. Plaintiff did not deny absolutely that this took place. Defendant's statement was not completely contradicted by plaintiff and there were, further, three witnesses who supported it. As the matter was now before him, the weight of evidence was clearly in favour of defendant; and if there were nothing further forthcoming when the action came on for trial, it did not appear to him that the plaintiff was likely to succeed. — Strait Times.

COAL HOIST EXPERIMENTING.

The Holland-Johnstone coal hoist has been tried at Rangoon on board the B. I. S. S. Satara, with satisfactory results. Ten men were employed, and the machine discharged 500 tons in five and a half hours. The rate for four machines at four hatches is 3,600 tons in a working day of ten hours, and is said to be a record for the Far East. The hoist in question is a dredger contrivance which scoops out the coal and shoots it into boat or on to a jetty. Special modifications, it is stated, are required on a ship for the fitting or working of the hoist. At Rangoon where the present record was established, it is well known that ships anchor alongside a jetty in the river. The Times of Ceylon, in noting this, says that, in Colombo, circumstances which obtain are very different and might not give such satisfactory results. However this may be, 3,600 tons a day, even under the most favourable conditions, is a very excellent performance. In Colombo, where only manual labour is used, the amount per diem is anything between 1,000 and 1,500 tons, and this is considered good work.
